PES Students Present Play

Fourth and Fifth Graders in the Title I Reading Program at Pamplin School planned and put on a play, "Todd Paul, Bionic Frog."

Todd Paul's jet lily pad crashes and he is made into a Six-Million-Dollar Bionic Frog by a team of skilled doctors and nurses. Working with Oscar Goldfish, Sally Mander, and John Newt, the frog captures the mechnical worm that is menacing the country. All is well until the Bionic Frog disappears, to be replaced by a new secret agent, Ali Gator. Ali has a hoarse voice (because "he has a frog in his throat") and he can only say, "Ribbit." The other agents feel certain that Ali has something to do with the disappearance of the Six Million Dollar Frog. Oh, well. Easy come, easy go.

Standing: Herman Wheeler, Doctor; Nancy Gilliam, Nurse; Sheila McCoy, Sally Mander; David Baldwin, Narrator; Ronnie Atkins, Ali Gator; Tommy Richardson, Oscar Goldfish.

Seated: Shirley Croner, Nurse; Sonny Reed, Bionic Frog; Danny Morgan, John Newt.

The Young Musicians, of New Hope Baptist Church, presented their cantata on Sunday night December 18. The choir was composed of 35 children, wh.ch sang and had speaking parts.

The evening was much enjoyed by everyone. To start us out, Dean Faye brought to us a melody of Christmas songs on his guitar. Following, the children gave their Christmas cantata, while the youth acted out the manger scene.

Following the pageant, the church had a white Christmas, where everyone was invited to give something to the needy. A fellowship then followed in the social hall.

The choir is directed by Alice Faye Franklin, and accompanist by Tammy Jamerson. Thanks to everyone who made this night a success.

BABY RAIDERS WIN ONE LOSE ONE

The ACHS Baby Raiders opened their season with an exciting 41-39 win over Jefferson Forest Tuesday in overtime. The J. V.'s never led until the final basket. Ronnie Robinson sank a 20 foot jumper at the buzzer to send the game into overtime. Robinson and Terry Woods each had a basket in the overtime period as the Baby Raiders out scored the Baby Cavs. 4-2. Woods finished the game with 16 points.

The Nelson J.V.'s defeated Appomattox 69 - 40 on Friday. The Baby Raiders were out played in all areas including the foul line. Nelson made 27 of 48 free throws, the Raiders made 22 of 40 attempts. Terry Woods had 17 points in a losing cause.

The Raiders are 1-1, and play at Altavista Tuesday, and enjoy Christmas off until January 3 when they opened their home season against Liberty.

JV RAIDERETTE SUMMARY

JV Raiderettes got off to a good start this season by defeating Jefferson-Forest 40-30 on Dec. 13 at Jefferson-Forest. The Raiderettes jumped off to a good lead with the score at the end of the first quarter 12-4. Jefferson Forest was in foul trouble in the early minutes of the game - two of their starters fouled out and two had 4 fouls each before the game was over. The Raiderettes made 12 for 22 foul shots, a percentage of 55. Three players had 10 points each: Johnna Belter, Sherri Repass and Terri Robinson.

Sherri Repass	2	6/7	3	10
Terri Robinson	4	2/5	3	10

On Dec. 15, the J.V. Raiderettes traveled to Gretna where they were defeated 19-26. The Raiderettes had a bad day offensively. By the end of the first quarter the Raiderettes had scored one free throw, while Gretna had 7 points. Throughout the game the JV Raiderettes had their problems offensively. However, Kim Hipps found the basket in the 4th quarter to score 8 points. Raiderettes shot 33% from the foul line.

The J.V. Raiderettes defeated Altavista 38-28 on their final game before the Christmas break. The game was very close all the way - Appomattox leading each of the first three quarters by only one point. It was not until the 4th quarter that they began to break ahead some. The Raiderettes had a total of 23 fouls as compared to Altavista's 13 fouls. The Raiderettes shot 33% from the foul line. Johnna Belter was top scorer with 17 points most of which were scored on a fast break.

Women in Men's Jobs

More and more, census figures show, women are taking on jobs that used to be held only by men. This is happening at the fastest rate in skilled trades.

How are these women getting along as welders, auto mechanics, fork-lift operators, plumbers, and in other blue-collar occupations?

University of California sociologist Mary Walshok set out to answer that question by conducting lengthy interviews with 90 women who were in nontraditional jobs. For comparison, she and her associates also interviewed 30 women who worked as beauticians, electronics assemblers, or had traditionally held by women.

Although the study is not yet completed, Walshok has come to the conclusion that there really isn't any important difference in the way women and men feel about work.

Nearly all of the women she interviewed said that work was important to them. They started working at an early age and had always taken for granted that they would work.

Some moved into jobs usually held by men because of the better pay and greater challenge.

One woman reported very simply that she had become a groundskeeper because it offered good money. "Where else am I going to make this kind of money?"

Another explained why it was important to have a job that required her to think about what she is doing: "There's enough complications in fixing machines to make it something to work at, you know, not just something you do automatically."

These answers are typical of the responses to Walshok's questions. The women in her study were working because they wanted to, not because they had to. They lost patience with boring and routine work. And they wanted better pay.

On the job, the women in Walshok's study ran into various kinds of trouble. Some were subjected to kidding and sexual advances, but usually only for the first few weeks or months. Some had to try to do their work with inadequate tools.

Despite these problems, the women seemed determined to remain on the job.

At home, husbands are sometimes proud, sometimes disapproving. Some husbands "brag to their buddies," while others refuse to discuss their wives' unusual jobs.

Children's attitudes are not always clear. While one teenager whose mother is a plumber proudly volunteers her services to neighbors, other children don't know what their mothers are doing.

Walshok is convinced that, with greater access and opportunity, more women would enter male-dominated jobs.

Mrs. Oliver's 6th Grade 4-H Club

Mrs. Oliver's 6th Grade class had their 4-H meeting on Dec. 16, 1977, Marie Doss opened it and Roy Woods led us in the pledge to the 4-H flag. Darryl Martin led us in the pledge to the American Flag. Gwen Moore ? Shelia Woodson led us in a game. Cindy Martin read the minutes of the last meeting. Mr. Sweet gave back certifigates from Share-The-Fun. On December 12, 1977 we had our 4-H award banquet. Mr. Sweet gave out pine seedling information.

January is public speaking month. Everyone who lives near or in Evergreen, there will be a 4-H meeting on January 12, 1978 at Tamlera Hamlet's house.

Our program for December was "Opportunities. Then Marie adjourned the meeting.

Raiderettes Lose

By Donna Mitchell

The Appomattox Raiderettes met the Altavista Colonelettes in the A.C.H.S. gym on December 20 in what was to be a hard fought game.

The Colonelettes went ahead in the first quarter with the score 9-8. When the two teams went into the locker room the Colonelettes still led, 16-11. The third quarter was a fast, moving quarter with a lot of scoring, but the Colonelettes were leading when the buzzer ended the quarter. The Raiderettes couldn't seem to catch up and the Colonelettes went on to win, 44-37.

The Appomattox Raiderettes were led by Connie Murray with 14 points. Roxie Martin and Susan Handy had 6 each, Marie Fraley had 4, Susan Godsey had 3 and Susan Smith and Annette Carter had 2 a piece.

Pam Elder led Colonelettes in scoring with 14 points. Leslie Wallace had 10, Annette Freeman and Suzanne McKell had 8 and Sandra Haskins had 4.

The big difference in the game was from the foul line where the Colonelettes had 17 shots and hit 12. The Raiderettes had 4 foul shots and hit only 1.

The Raiderettes are now 1-3 and the Colonelettes are 3-1.

The Raiderettes travel to Liberty on January 3. See you there!
